

SEMINAR#5

Hybrid Music Orchestral Course

(4th to 11th of February 2024)

SWING!

'It don't mean a thing (If it ain't got that swing)' proclaimed Duke Ellington in 1931. Even though orchestral musicians spend most of their time playing symphonic music, the fact is, almost all orchestras play pop concerts as part of their season as well. And so, it's vitally important that classical musicians learn the skills needed to give music the swing it needs. The classic arrangements Nelson Riddle wrote for Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin et al, are at the heart of this masterclass. With a vocal soloist plus an expanded big band that includes strings and woodwinds besides the usual brass, saxes, and rhythm section - this is a unique chance for orchestral musicians to explore some classic pop evergreens.

Starting the year with a groove, the first Orchestral Course of 2024 will represent a dive into the exciting blend of an orchestra/big band crossover ensemble and an opportunity to learn and tackle the notorious rhythmic challenges of "the Swing". The Orchestral Course's finale will be a concert performance in Skopje and besides its week-long immersive preparation process, it will include in-depth lectures led by Timothy Redmond focusing on chamber music, additional side concerts and fun extracurriculars.

The Concert Program will include arrangements of: « Try a Little Tenderness, Moonlight in Vermont, Autumn in New York, Matt Monro Medley, (A Time for Love; Days of Wine and Roses; For All We Know), Blue Moon, Sway, New York-New York, Fly Me to the Moon, Come Fly With Me, Hey There , Angel Eyes, Bewitched ».
